

DC's WORLD CUP WELCOME

A StorySprout Press Book

DC's WORLD CUP WELCOME

Maya loved two things: history and soccer. She knew every fact about Washington DC, from the Washington Monument to the Smithsonian museums. But today, she was going to see history being made — the World Cup at FedEx Field!

"Look, Mom! The Washington Monument looks like a giant goalpost!" Maya pointed as they drove past the landmarks.

"Everything looks like a goalpost to you," Mom laughed.

FedEx Field loomed ahead, huge and blue. The stadium character, the FedEx Giant, wore a cape made of a giant American flag. He had a heart of gold that glowed with every cheer.

The FedEx Giant was known for his powerful voice. "Welcome to DC!" he seemed to boom. "Today, we welcome the world!"

Maya felt a shiver of excitement. The World Cup was here!

Inside, the stadium was decorated with flags from every nation. Fans from England wore white and red, while US fans wore red, white, and blue. Everyone was smiling.

"This stadium has seen so much history," Mom said.
"And now it's making more!" Maya nodded, taking it all in.

Team England walked out in their classic white kits. The "Three Lions" looked strong and proud. The crowd roared as the players lined up for the anthem.

TWEET! The game began! England moved the ball with precision passing. The US team countered with speed. It was a chess match on grass.

A US player broke free down the wing and crossed the ball. BANG! A header toward goal! The English goalkeeper made a spectacular save.

England responded with a beautiful passing sequence. Their star striker received the ball, turned, and shot. GOAL! 1-0 England!

Between periods, Maya ate a hot dog and looked at the DC monuments visible from the upper deck.
"This is the best field trip ever," she said.

The next period began with intensity. The US team pressed forward. The FedEx Giant's heart glowed brighter with every attack.

GOALLLLLLL!

USA scored! A long-range shot that curled into the top corner. 1-1! The stadium erupted. Maya hugged Mom, jumping up and down.

FedExField

It's like chess.

The final minutes were tense. Both teams wanted the win. England pushed forward. USA defended with everything they had.

England took a final shot. CLANG! It hit the post and bounced away! The whistle blew. 1-1! A draw between two great teams!

After the match, players exchanged jerseys. Maya saw an English player give his shirt to a young US fan. That was the spirit of the World Cup.

As they left, Maya looked back at the stadium.
"Thank you, FedEx Giant, for an amazing day!"

The FedEx Giant's heart pulsed warmly. He loved hosting the world. Washington DC was ready for the world!

On the way home, Maya looked at the lit-up monuments. "One day, I'll play here," she said. "I know you will," Mom replied.

Maya dreamed of scoring the winning goal for the US in a World Cup final at FedEx Field. The crowd roaring her name.

The FedEx Giant settled down for the night. His flag cape fluttered gently in the breeze.

Washington DC had welcomed the world. And the world had a wonderful time.
Are you ready for the World Cup?

Fun Fact: FedEx Field is located just outside Washington DC in Landover, Maryland. It's one of the largest stadiums in the NFL and has hosted countless historic moments!
