ATLANTA'S Amazing Stadium

MERCEDES-BENZ STADIUM

Atlanta was buzzing! Sofia had been waiting for this day her whole life — the World Cup at Mercedes-Benz Stadium!

"Come on, Dad! We're going to be late!" Sofia tugged her father's hand.

The stadium looked like a giant silver spaceship had landed in the middle of Atlanta. The Mercedes-Benz Giant had a shiny metal body and a halo-roof that glowed with rainbow lights.

"Welcome to Atlanta!" the giant seemed to say. His roof — the "Oculus" — opened like a giant flower blooming. Sofia looked up in wonder.

Inside, the stadium was massive. A giant video board shaped like a ring hung from the ceiling. "That's the largest video board in the world!" Dad said.

Fans from Brazil and Germany filled the stands.
Samba drums competed with German chants. The energy was electric.

"This is bigger than I imagined!" Sofia whispered.

TWEET! Brazil vs Germany! Two of the greatest soccer nations faced off. Brazil's yellow jerseys moved like sunshine on the green grass.

Germany struck first. A powerful shot from outside the box. GOAL! 1-0 Germany. The German fans sang loudly.

Brazil responded with beautiful samba soccer.
Quick passes, dazzling dribbles. The Mercedes-Benz
Giant's halo glowed yellow and green.

Brazil scored! A beautiful team goal. 1-1. Sofia jumped and cheered. This was World Cup soccer at its finest!

Between periods, Sofia explored the stadium. "Did you know this roof can open or close in just 8 minutes?" Dad pointed to the giant Oculus.

SCIENCE OF SOCCER

The next period was intense. Germany controlled possession. Brazil looked dangerous on the counter. Both teams wanted the win.

Germany scored again. A header from a corner. 2-1.
The German fans went wild. Sofia felt a little sad but kept cheering.

Brazil pushed forward. They earned a penalty! The crowd held its breath. The Brazilian star stepped up... and scored! 2-2!

The match ended 2-2. A thrilling draw! Players shook hands. Sofia waved her Brazilian flag one last time.

"That was the most amazing thing I've ever seen,"
Sofia said. "Me too," Dad smiled.

Mercedes-Benz
STADIUM

The Mercedes-Benz Giant's halo glowed with all the colors of the rainbow. A perfect end to a perfect match.

Atlanta had shown its Southern hospitality. The world was welcome here.

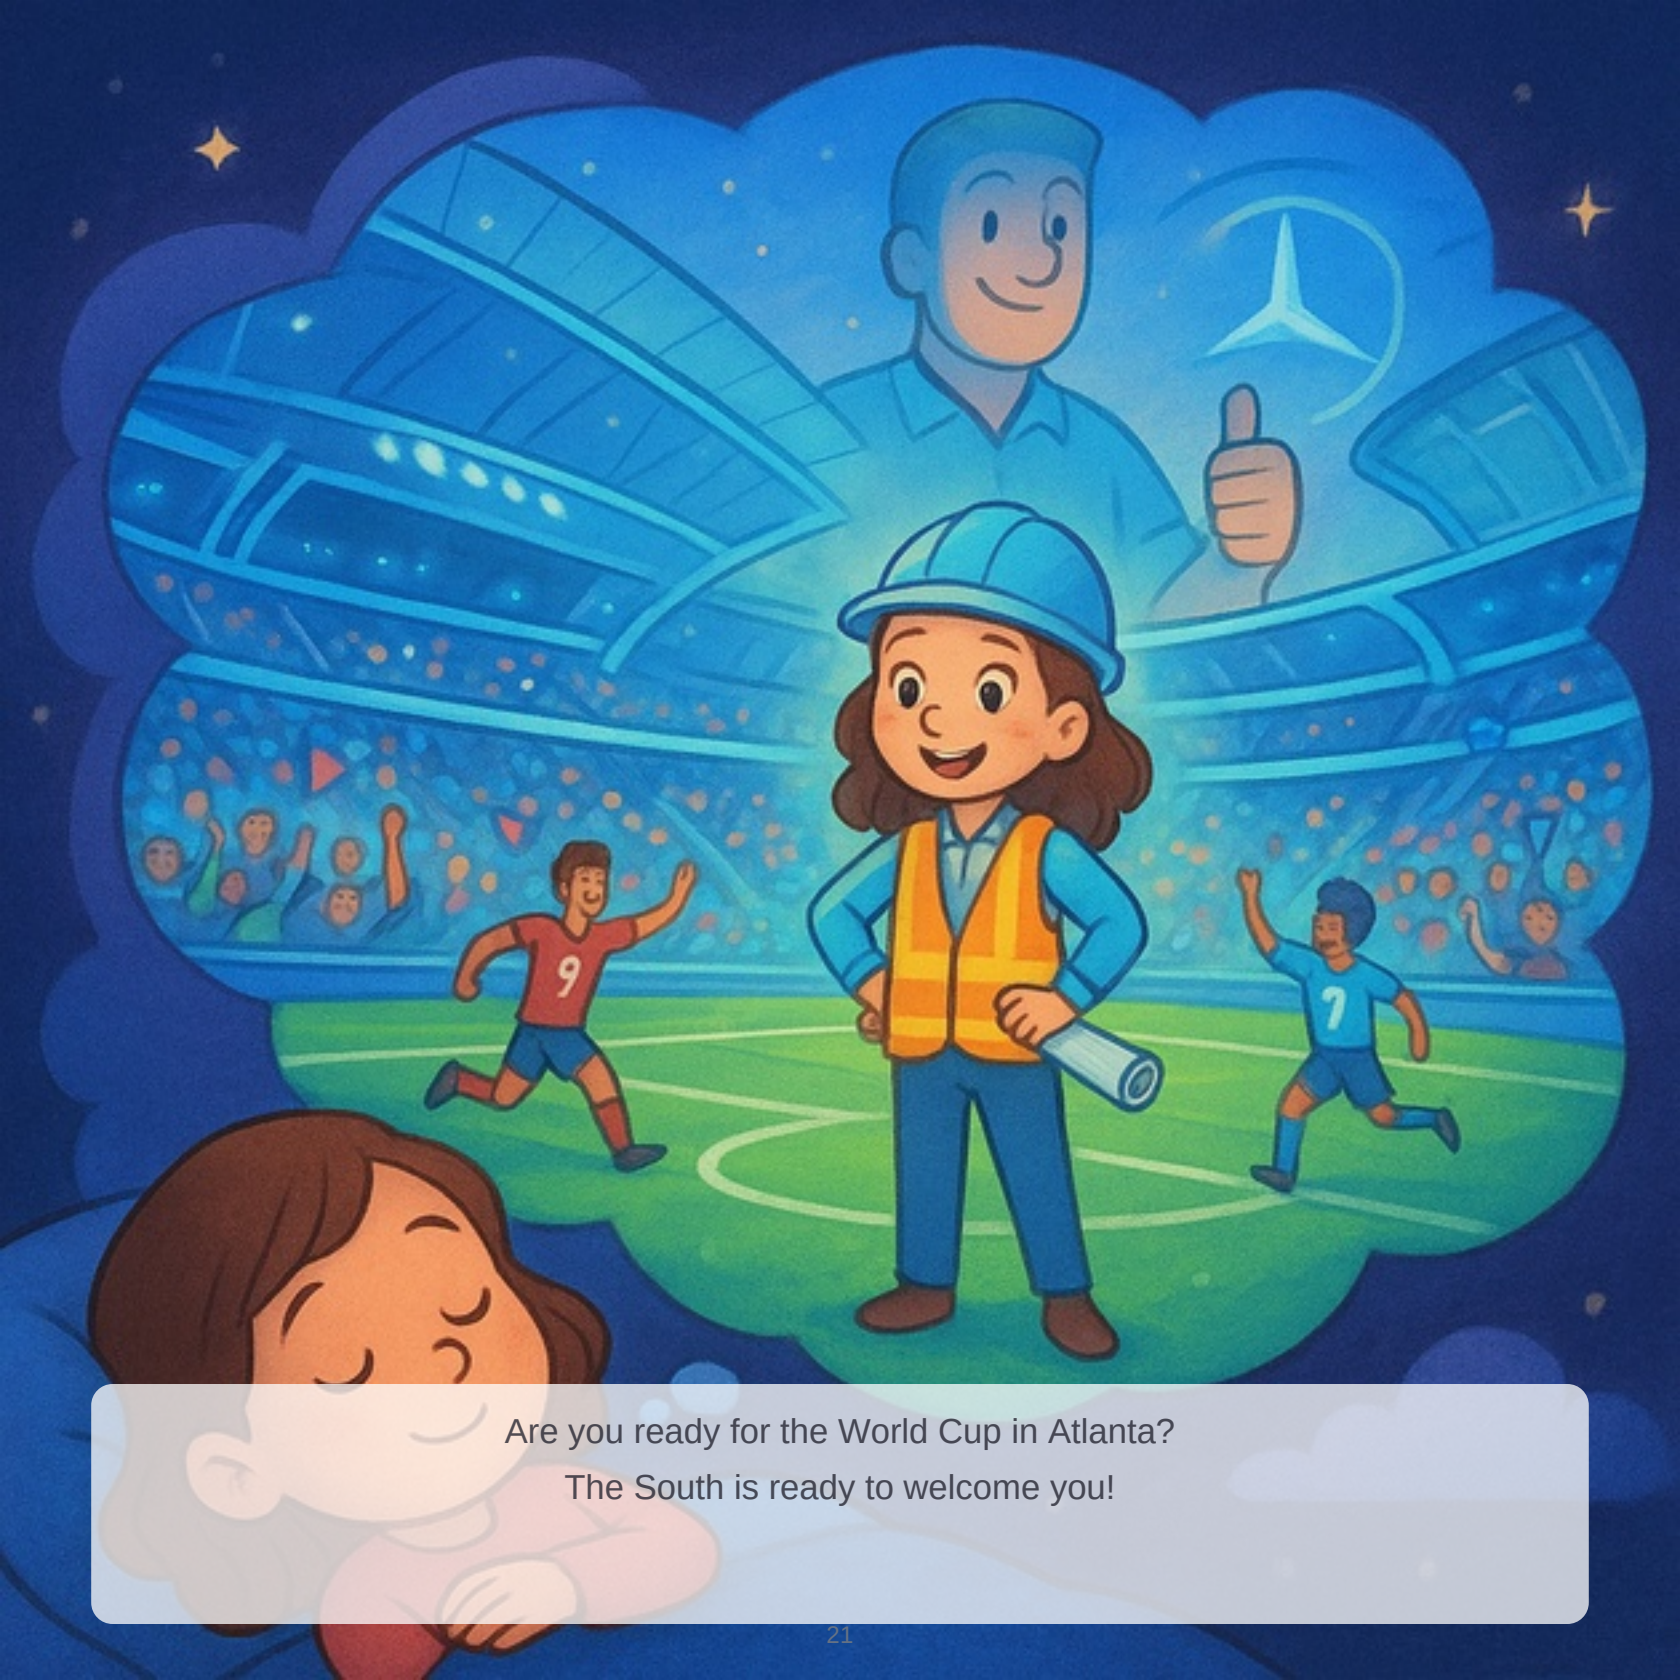

Sofia fell asleep in the car, dreaming of playing on that field someday.

The stadium settled into the night. The giant's lights dimmed gently.
