HOUSTON'S BIG HEART

Houston was ready for liftoff! Carlos had his Argentina jersey on and his lucky space socks.

"Today, we're going to see the stars play!" his dad said. Houston's NRG Stadium was hosting the World Cup!

NRG Stadium had a giant retractable roof and walls that could change color. The NRG Giant wore a space helmet and had rocket boosters on his sides.

"Welcome to Space City!" the giant seemed to say.
His rocket boosters glowed blue as the doors opened.

Inside, fans from Argentina and Nigeria filled the stands. Blue and white stripes mixed with green and white. The energy was cosmic!

"Houston is the most diverse city in America," Dad said. "Today, the whole world is here!"

An illustration of the interior of NRG Stadium. The stadium's seating is shown in red and blue tiers, and the green field is visible in the background. The stadium's name, "nrg stadium", is displayed on a blue curved structure. In the foreground, a young boy with dark skin and curly hair, wearing a yellow shirt, and a young girl with dark skin and long dark hair, wearing a red shirt, are looking towards the field with expressions of excitement. The girl is pointing towards the field. On the right side of the image, there is a vertical blue panel with white circuit-like patterns.

Behind him, four other boys in green jerseys with white numbers (9, 13, and 1) are running. To the right, a large green robot with glowing eyes and a friendly expression is waving. The background shows a large stadium filled with a cheering crowd. A dark blue banner at the top reads "nrg stadium HOUSTON".
